

With the current emphasis on free trade agreements and global sourcing, Customs issues have assumed an increasingly important role in the supply chain. Our global Customs services focus on the compliance, release, and reporting needs of the marketplace, which we refer to as the "Customs value stream."

You began global sourcing and manufacturing outsourcing to significantly boost your company's bottom-line performance. However, import and export regulations, processes and tariffs can add complexity, delays and costs.

HT can help make sure your supply chain's performance is meeting or exceeding your business expectations. Our in-country expertise can help you execute all the formalities required by the customs and excise authorities which govern the entry of foreign goods into a destination territory.

Our Customs Brokerage services include:

- Customs clearance executes all formalities governing the entry of foreign goods into the destination territory, as required by the destination customs and excise authorities
- Licensed provider fully licensed where authorized by host government to provide customs clearance services

Visionary

Supported by advanced technology, streamlined processes, and the best people in the industry, we continue to introduce new services and products, assisting clients in managing their global customs "value stream."

While many companies offer international customs services, HT has a global vision of our clients' logistics and customs needs.

Our network operates under standardized processes which are continually validated, measured, analyzed and reviewed.

We strive for the most efficient processes, aligned with customer requirements, and using the best combination of human effort and intelligence, and advanced technology.

Our goal is that processes optimize the entire customs value stream.

Compliance information is a key input to the release process, and we're focused on it flowing smoothly and accurately.

We emphasize minimizing the time involved in the release process, so our customer's overall supply chain processes are not obstructed. In a supply chain process, any "waiting" time is a waste, and we are focused on eliminating waste.

We're constantly driving greater accuracy and depth into the release process to enable the Analysis component of the customs value stream.

At HT, we're taking the best of the best practices of many industries and applying them to our own processes, to drive continuous improvement, ever greater efficiency, and more intelligent use of people and technology.

Data, not Documents

We focus on the most efficient methods of capturing, using, and managing data, from input at origin through statistical reporting at client-specified levels. Let us move you into a paperless environment. Technology is the platform from which we drive our processes.

We are continuously enhancing our global systems to meet regulatory requirements, customer needs, and process efficiencies.

We're aggressive, cutting edge, and continuously developing.

Our data verifies and measures compliance levels of our transactions.

Our ability to measure and trend all aspects of performance provide you with the necessary diagnostic tools to manage your business.

Our focus is on driving our work through our Customers' business data.

Expertise

Our combination of product management, field operations, and professional services allow us to provide the perfect mix of skill sets necessary for complete Customs expertise.

People evolution is our focus.

While technology is our platform, our people are our engines to ensure successful processes.

Our employees understand the big picture and are always focused on developing new skill sets. We mix customs expertise and credentials with skills in developing and managing processes, using technology to the customers' benefit, and execution built upon critical analysis.

We support our operations with people to manage implementation and transition of new processes and technologies, enabling our talented staff to keep focused on your business.
